

Canadian Society for the History of Medicine (CSHM) #70
Draft Program

The Canadian Society for the History of Medicine (CSHM) and the Canadian Association for the History of Nursing (CAHN) are pleased to confirm that the following papers have been accepted for presentation at our 2017 joint conference, May 27 to 29 at Ryerson University. Please note that the conference program is not yet finalised and the presentation dates indicated may be subject to change.

The final program will be posted by April 21, 2017.

Société Canadienne d’histoire de la médecine (SCHM) #70
Programme préliminaire

La Société Canadienne d’histoire de la médecine (SCHM) et l’Association Canadienne pour l’histoire du nursing (ACHN) sont heureux de confirmer que les communications suivantes ont été acceptées pour présentation à notre colloque conjoint de 2017, du 27 au 29 mai à l'Université Ryerson. Veuillez noter que le programme n'est pas encore finalisé et que les dates de présentation indiquées sont sujettes à changement.

Le programme finalisé sera affiché le 21 avril 2017.

Saturday May 27   samedi 27 mai
Western Medicine in the Arabian (Persian) Gulf	Alan S. Weber (Weill Cornell Medicine-Qatar)
Role of Transmigration in the Life of Jenny Trout, the first female physician in Canada	Andy Jin (Dalhousie University) and Sasha Mullally (Dalhousie University)
Nursing and Identity Politics: The Construction of a New Profession for Women in Iran	Lydia Wytenbroek (York University)
Through the Eyes of The Canadian Nurse : Major Trends in Maternal Infant Health and Nursing in Canada, 1905-2015	Lenora Marcellus (University of Victoria)
Sir William Osler and Early Printing on the French Disease	Elma Brenner (Wellcome Library, London)
Confined medicine: Jesuit medical knowledge during the Canton detention	Oana Baboi (University of Toronto)
Entre la vie et la mort : Responsabilité et accidents du travail au Nouveau-Brunswick (1919-1929)	Nelson Ouellet (University of Moncton)
Psychiatres contre gardes-malades : retour sur l’histoire de la Commission Régnier sur l’administration de l’Institut Albert-Prévost (1962-1964)	Alexandre Klein (Laval University)

Rethinking the Royal Commission on the Status of Women in Canada	Shannon Stettner (University of Waterloo) and Kristen Burnett (Lakehead University)
Really Dangerous For Your Health?: The Regulation of Tattooing in Canadian Cities, 1924-1964	Jamie Jelinski (Queen's University)
Looking Death in the Face: A History of Advance Directives in Ontario	Alexander Astell (Queen's University)
Appropriate for whom? Interpreting Appropriate Technology in International Health	Heidi Morefield (Johns Hopkins University)
« Des ténèbres vers la lumière ». Témoignages d'aveugles de guerre canadiens de la Première et Seconde Guerre mondiale	Corinne Doria (Université Paris 1-Panthéon-Sorbonne)
"For Whom Neither Spouse Nor Child Shall Mourn": The postwar lives of the Canadian Army Medical Corps Nursing Sisters	Eliza Richardson (Wilfred Laurier University)
Sir William Peterson, McGillikens and Oslerians - Oh My! : A study of the McGill University No.3 Canadian General Hospital at Home and Overseas	Nina Bozzo (Western University)
Ontario's Public Health Imaginary, 1882-1885	Kenton Kroker (York University)
First in the Field: Picturing Georgina Fane Pope's South African War	Andrea McKenzie (York University)
Health exhibitions, national hygiene and eugenics in 1930s China	Mirela David (University of Saskatchewan)
Étude de cas sur l'ardeur du travail effectué par des infirmières de colonie en régions éloignées entre 1936 et 1962	Gladys Bruyninx (University of Ottawa)
Helen K. Mussallem et la formation infirmière au Canada	Evy Nazon (University of Ottawa)
Nursing History as Philosophy – Notes Toward a Critical History of Nursing	Kylie Smith (Emory University), Kim Lauzier (University of Ottawa), Thomas Foth (University of Ottawa)
"The most fully studied people in the world": International Research on Malnutrition in Pre-Confederation Newfoundland and Labrador	J.T.H. Connor (Memorial University)
Eugenic Nutrition and Gynaecology: Starving the Poor in Modern Research	Terry-Lee Marttinen (Oxford-Brookes University)
Imperial Medicine, Malnutrition, and Health Crisis in the Philippines during the Japanese Occupation Period, 1942-1945	Arnel E. Joven (University of Asia and the Pacific)
H.B.M. Murphy (1915-1987) pionnier de l'épidémiologie psychiatrique et intermédiaire entre les cultures scientifiques francophones et anglophones	Emmanuel Delille (Max Planck Institute)

The Tyranny of Diagnosis: Leo Kanner and Infantile Autism as a Condition of the Affects	Marga Vicedo (University of Toronto)
A Canadian Nightingale at the Montreal General Hospital: Class and Gender in Victorian Canada	Carol Helmstadter (University of Toronto)
Hannah Plenary Lecture (morning)	Karen Flynn (University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign)
Sunday May 28   dimanche 28 mai
Road Warriors or 'Healthy Cheerful Girls': Canadian and Newfoundland Women Driving Ambulances in the Great War	Linda Quiney (University of British Columbia)
"Get the disabled to come out of their closets": The origins and first decade of the disability rights movement in Thunder Bay and northwestern Ontario, 1949-1979	Ulysses Patola (University of Manitoba)
Practicing Medicine in the Context of the European Witch Hunts	Yvonne Petry (University of Regina)
"We are Saving Lives for the Cost of Three-Quarters of a Cent per Acre": The History of Hospital Development in Saskatchewan	Helen Vandenberg (University of Saskatchewan)
"I am Neither a Knave Nor a Fool": Conflict in the 1914 Correspondence of the Hugh Waddell Memorial Hospital, Canora, Saskatchewan	Erin Gallagher-Cohoon (University of Saskatchewan)
Before the Birth of Medicare: Government Funding and Insurance Schemes in Saskatchewan	Ceilidh Auger-Day (University of Saskatchewan)
Entre esprit et corps : analyse des notes d'observation des infirmières sur un malade à l'Hôpital Saint-Michel-Archange de Beauport	Karine Aubin (University of Ottawa)
"You Had to Just Kind of Rub Her Cheek": Memories and Emotions of Mental Deficiency Nurses in Alberta, Canada, 1945 – 1965	Geertje Boschma (University of British Columbia)
Womanly Christian Duty and the Care of Others in Jamaica, 1870-1920	Sandria Green-Stewart (McMaster University)
A Clash among Cancer Specialists in Canada: delaying the progression of anti-tumor treatments and their evaluation, 1954-1965	Fedir Razumenko (University of Saskatchewan)

“One is Dental, the Other is Mental’: The Relationship of Orthodontics and Psychology in Canadian Society, 1945-2000”	Melissa Micu (University of Guelph)
Losing Face: Gender, Scientific Authority and the 19th-Century Origins of the Chemical Skin Peel	Kathryn Schweishelm (Freie Universität Berlin)
L’accès aux soins de santé mentale pour la jeunesse franco-ontarienne : un enjeu national (1970-1990)	Mathieu Arsenault (York University)
Measles, midwives and mothers in Canada: Changing attitudes to vaccination, 1960s-1990s	Heather MacDougall (University of Waterloo) and Laurence Monnais (Université de Montréal)
We are All Equal in Death: Children’s Bodies and Anatomical Dissection in Eighteenth Century Britain	Esther Atkinson (University of Toronto)
“A Strange Artist”: Juliette Hervy and Mind Experiments in Early French Psychical Research	Alexandra Bacopoulos-Viau (McGill University)
“Shee will not bee prevayled with to take any thing without your Direction”: Friendship, Gender and Medical Authority in Early Modern England	Adriana Benzaquén (Mount Saint-Vincent University)
Surgical families: Women, Mobility, and Medicine in the Napoleonic Era	Lucia Dacome (University of Toronto)
Forensic Neuroimaging as a 21st-Century Lombroso-style Criminal Anthropology	Guilherme Sanches de Oliveira (University of Cincinnati)
“My head, my head”: the 1855 Buranelli execution and the multiple forensic languages of insanity in mid-Victorian England	Cosimo Calabrò (McGill University)
Punishing Attempted Suicide in English-Speaking Canada, 1892-1972	Janet Miron (Trent University)
Plague by Proxy: Class and the Lingering Memory of Plague in Eighteenth-Century Britain	Kevin Sienna (Trent University)
The Destigmatization of Sexually Transmitted Infections in Canada, 1960-1980	Jeremy Istead (University of Guelph)
The Past as Present Sense: Historical Memory of Public Health Reform in New Brunswick	Jane Jenkins (St. Thomas University)
A Duty to “Assist and Aid” and “Not Interfere”: Defining Desirable Doctors and Deliveries in Postwar Canada	Whitney Wood (Birbeck, University of London)
From Far and Wide: The Sioux Lookout Project, local needs, international scholars and Indigenous health research	Mary-Ellen Kelm (Simon Fraser University)
"A Marvel of Nature and Industry": Kitimat and the Global Aluminum Trade	Jordan Howell (Harvard University)

The Hudson's Bay Company, the North West Company and the History of Health Care in the Canadian North After World War II	Kristen Burnnett (Lakehead University) and Travis Hay (York University)
Paterson Plenary Lecture (morning)	Evelynn Hammonds (Harvard University)
Monday May 29   lundi 29 mai
L'implantation d'un nouveau modèle d'organisation et de prestation des soins en santé mentale au Québec : L'exemple de l'hôpital Pierre-Janet de Hull (1963-1971)	Daniel Angers (University of Ottawa)
L'évolution du nursing psychiatrique dans la presse écrite canadienne-française de 1928-1960	Elsa-Karine Harchaoui (University of Ottawa) and Inès Zombre (University of Ottawa)
Making the Case for Investment in Mental Health: Scientific Administration of the Canadian Psychiatric Hospital	Thomas Foth (University of Ottawa) and Cheryl McWaters (University of Ottawa)
Surveying the Material Culture of Health at the University of Toronto	Erich Weidenhammer (University of Toronto)
Fire Traps, Steam Traps, and Media Traps: Interpreting Fire Prevention and Governmental Gas-Lighting at the Lakeshore Psychiatric Hospital	Ben Mitchel (Lakeshore Grounds Interpretive Centre)
Whose History Did We Keep? Two Case Studies in the Exhibition of the History of Institutional Mental Health Care in Ontario	Jennifer Bazar (Lakeshore Grounds Interpretive Centre)
Dr. Forbes Godfrey, MPP and his Eugenic Proposals for Ontario	Elizabeth Koester (University of Toronto)
"Hurted on the P.C.": Artificial Limbs and American Imperialism	Caroline Loeffers (Yale University)
"Healthy" d/Deaf Citizens: Health Discourses, Disability, d/Deafness and Education at the Ontario Institution for the Education of the Deaf, 1904-1914	Alessandra Iozzo-Duval (University of Ottawa)
Attempting to Curb Venereal Disease in the Canadian Expeditionary Force through Film, 1917-1919	Craig Leslie Mantle (Wilfred Laurier University)
"Fatuous Piece of Bumf": Army Form W3436 and the Diagnosis of Shell Shock, 1917-1918	Matthew Barrett (Queen's University)
Battling Wounded Minds: The Canadian Military and Operational Stress Injuries after the Cold War	Adam Montgomery (University of Saskatchewan)
Making 'Aboriginal Diabetes' Genetic: James V. Neel in Vancouver, 1978	Travis Hay (York University)

The Citizen and the Ward: Community Imagining and Duty to Care for Indigenous Peoples in the Canadian Medical Association Journal	Lucy Vorobej (University of Waterloo)
Making Metabolism a Science of Race	Elizabeth Neswald (Brock University)
The Interwoven History of Mercury Poisoning in Ontario and Japan	Adam Mosa (Queen's University) and Jacalyn Duffin (Queen's University)
Le programme de santé mentale de la clinique externe de l'Hôpital Montfort: un cas d'exception?	Sandra Harrisson (University of Ottawa) and Marie-Claude Thifault (University of Ottawa)
Accommodating Mental Health: Voluntary Mental Health Groups and the London County Council, 1948–1959	Kevin Burris (York University)
The State and the state of England's Hospitals in the Later Seventeenth Century	Matthew Neufeld (University of Saskatchewan)
Wearing and Tearing: Patient Labour at Western Washington Hospital for the Insane	Blaine Wickham (University of Saskatchewan)
"Dual Diagnosis": Place-based Services and the Administrative Separation between Idiocy and Insanity in Ontario	Tyler Hnatuk (York University)
Institutionalized Treatments of the Past: the Case of the Workhouse Dresden in Post-war East Germany	Markus Wahl (University of Kent)